NOTES.—1 A First Reader like Appleton's may not be completed in the first year, but one of ordinary difficulty may be completed in that time.

2 All number work to be accompanied by the use of objects. No text book.

3 For the lessons on plants let Hooker's Child's Book of Nature, part I, be taken as the teacher's manual. For form and color help will be found in Calkins' Primary Object Lessons.

4 Nos. 1 and 2 Spencerian Tracing Books, or Payson, Duntun & Scribner's Lead Pencil Series may be used in this grade.

SECOND GRADE.

READING—Second Reader. Vowel sounds and markings.

SPELLING¹—Oral, from reading books.

NUMBERS—Read and write numbers to 1000. Add and subtract numbers of not more than four places. Addition and subtraction tables. Multiply and divide with numbers up to 5. Idea of tens and units. Roman notation to L.

OBJECT LESSONS²—Lessons in form and color continued. Place terms learned. Divisions of time. Lessons on animals.

WRITING³—With pencils, slate and lead. Spencerian Tracing Books or Payson, Duntun & Scribner's Lead Pencil Series.

DRAWING⁴—Straight line work, including quadrilaterals. Dictation exercises.

SINGING—Rote singing, scales. Simple exercises in reading and writing notes.

NOTES.—1 Swinton's Word Primer will also be found to contain work suitable for this grade.

2 For the lessons on animals follow Hooker's Child's Book of Nature, part II.

3 Short sentences from reading lessons used as blackboard copies. Portions of reading lessons copied on slates, using capitals and punctuation marks as they occur. If Tracing Books 1 and 2 are used in the first grade, Nos 3 and 4 may be used in this.

4 If drawing books are desired for this and the previous grade, White's Primary Industrial series is recommended.

INTERMEDIATE No. 1.

THIRD GRADE.¹

READING—Third Reader begun. Vocal sounds and markings.

SPELLING—Oral and written. Spelling by sound. Primary Speller.

NUMBERS—Read and write numbers to 1,000,000. Multiplication and division tables completed. Multiplication with multiplier of two figures. Division with divisor of one figure. Idea of simple fractions. Most common tables of denominate numbers. Roman notation to C.

GEOGRAPHY—Oral lessons in direction and distance. Object lessons on the immediate region or landscape—surface, land, waters, animals, vegetation, industries etc. Use and interpretation of maps. Map drawing of the city or county. Map of the State. Simple lessons on the globe to give an idea of the world as a whole. Outline map of the hemispheres.

SINGING—Teach to read and sing simple music written in keys of C and G.

NOTES.—1 This grade may be counted a primary or intermediate grade, to suit the convenience of the particular school.

2 Many of the vowel sounds and markings will have been learned in the previous grades. The work should here be completed, so that the pupils will be familiar with all the sounds of the vowels and their notation in Webster's Dictionary.

FOURTH GRADE.

READING¹—Third Reader completed and supplementary reading.

SPELLING²—Written. Speller supplemented by lists from text books. Special attention to dictation exercises.

ARITHMETIC³—Intermediate Arithmetic through fractions.

GEOGRAPHY⁴—Elementary Geography.

LANGUAGE LESSONS—Whitney & Knox's "Elementary Lessons in English," part 1, or Powell's "How to Talk," begun.

WRITING—Spencerian or Payson, Dunton & Scribner's copy-book No. 3, common school course.

DRAWING.

SINGING—Daily lessons in singing by note.

NOTES.—1 As supplementary reading, Swinton's "Book of Tales," or the "Young Folks' Robinson Crusoe," published by Lea & Shepard, are excellent. Or a Third Reader of another series than that in regular use may be taken.

2 The lessons in the Speller should be varied by lists made up of the terms used in the Grammar, Arithmetic and other text books. Swinton's Word Book and Harrington's Graded Speller are recommended as text books, the latter especially for its excellent dictation exercises.

3 By "Intermediate Arithmetic" is meant some such book as Barnes' "Elementary," White's "Intermediate" or the "Franklin Elementary."

4 Monteth's "Elementary," Harper's, Appleton's or Swinton's "Introductory" is recommended. One year may be found too short for this work, in which case the book may be completed in the first half of the fifth grade.

STRAIGHT UNIVERSITY.

INTERMEDIATE No. 2.
FIFTH GRADE.

- READING—Fourth Reader begun.
- SPELLING—Written, with frequent dictation exercises.
- ARITHMETIC—Intermediate Arithmetic, completed.¹

- WRITING—Copy-book No. 4, common school course.
- DRAWING—Daily lessons at least half the year.
- SINGING—Daily exercises.

NOTES.—1 Through decimals and compound numbers, at least. The rest of this book need not be insisted on if the time be found short.

2 Monteith's "Comprehensive," Swinton's "Grammar School," Guyot's "Intermediate," Harpers' or Appleton's.

SIXTH GRADE.

NOTES.—1 Or Fifth Reader of series that are graded low. No book of equal difficulty with Appleton's Fifth Reader would be permissible, however.

2 By this is meant some such book as White's "Complete," Robinson's "Practical," or the "Franklin Written Arithmetic."

3 Monteith's "Comprehensive," through Europe may be taken as the minimum.

4 The following books (one or more) are recommended for the teacher's guidance, or even for the pupil's use, viz.: Hotze's "First Lessons in Physics," Hooker's "First Book in Chemistry," Geikie's Physical Geography (Science Primer), Hotze's "First Lessons in Physiology."

GRAMMAR GRADES.

SEVENTH GRADE.

- READING¹—Fifth Reader.
- SPELLING—Written exercises.
- ARITHMETIC²—Practical Arithmetic, through Partial Payments. Mental Arithmetic, daily exercises.
- GEOGRAPHY—Advanced book completed.
- LANGUAGE³—Graded Lessons completed by middle of year. Grammar begun.

2 Thorough work in some such book as Robinson's Intellectual Arithmetic.

3 Text-book in formal Grammar, as Reed & Kellogg's, Sill's Swinton's or Whitney's.

4 Much importance is attached to careful work with the business forms in this book No. 7.

The practice should also be carried beyond what is given in the copy-book.

EIGHTH GRADE.

READING¹—Appleton's Fifth Reader, Cathcart's Literary Reader, or Sixth Reader of some series.

SPELLING—Written exercises.

ARITHMETIC²—Practical Arithmetic completed and reviewed.

LANGUAGE—Grammar and Composition.

U S. HISTORY—Barnes's Brief, or Higginson's Young Folks' History.

TEMPERANCE³—Colman's "Alcohol and Hygiene."

DRAWING—Optional with teachers.

SINGING—Daily exercises.

NOTES.—1 Give special attention to the literary quality of what is read, as well as to the principles of expression.

2 Reviews need not necessarily embrace every part of the book.

3 As a regular daily recitation, and not in any desultory or general way.

ELEMENTARY NORMAL COURSE.

FIRST YEAR—NINTH YEAR OF COURSE.

MATHEMATICS—¹Elementary Algebra.

LANGUAGE²—Grammar and Composition.

NATURAL SCIENCE—³Commercial Geography, one term. ⁴Physical Geography, two terms.

MORALS AND MANNERS⁵—Gow's "Good Morals and Gentle Manners."

LATIN⁶—Optional.

DRAWING.

VOCAL MUSIC.

NOTES.—1 Care should be taken not to use too heavy a text book. Ficklin's "Elements" (A. S. Barnes & Co.) is suggested.

2 It is recommended that Swinton's School Composition be used two days in each week, alternating with the Grammar. A different division of the time may be made, however, by giving Grammar the first and Composition the second half of the year.

3 This work may serve to some degree as a review of the work done in the Grammar department. It is recommended that the chapters on Commercial and Industrial Geography in Harper's School Geography (pp. 64-2, 120-1, 123) be made the basis of this work. This can be supplemented by Patton's "Natural Resources of the United States," (Science Primer series, D. Appleton & Co.) and Browne's "Manual of Commerce."

4 Avoid the use of too difficult a text book.

5 To be used one term as a regular text book.

6 This means at the option of the faculty.

SECOND YEAR—TENTH OF THE COURSE.

MATHEMATICS—Higher Arithmetic.¹ Book-keeping.²

NATURAL SCIENCE—Physiology.³ Botany,⁴ one term.

LITERATURE⁵—"Seven British Classics," or equivalent.

DIDACTICS⁶School Economy and Primary Methods.

LATIN—Optional.

DRAWING.

VOCAL MUSIC.

NOTES.—1 This should occupy no more than two-thirds of the year. The text book need not necessarily be different from that used in the Grammar Grades, but the method of teaching should be different, giving more attention to the RATIONAL. Olney's "Science of Arithmetic" is suggested as a suitable text book; but the whole of it need not be taken.

2 At least one term. Palmer's "Elements of Bookkeeping" is mentioned as a suitable text book.

3 Two terms. Hutchison's & Steele's text books are suitable.

4 Wood & Steele's, or Wood's Object Lessons in Botany.

5 The object in this work is to study English literature, not historically but practically, with a view to the cultivation of a taste for the best reading. At least one term should be given to it, and more is better. Swinton's "Masterpieces of English Literature" is specially commended as a text book.

6 This work to be a matter of regular daily instruction during at least half the year. Semi-occasional lectures on the subject are by no means adequate.

HIGHER NORMAL COURSE.

JUNIOR CLASS—ELEVENTH YEAR.

MATHEMATICS—Plane Geometry, whole year.

NATURAL SCIENCE—Physics, whole year.

HISTORY—General History, two terms. Scripture History (New Testament), one term. English Literature, one term.

DRAWING.

PRACTICE TEACHING—Under criticism.

SENIOR CLASS—TWELFTH YEAR.

NATURAL SCIENCE—Geology, two terms. Astronomy,¹ one term.

MENTAL AND MORAL SCIENCE².

HISTORY—United States History³ and Civil Government.

PEDAGOGICS—Science of education. Practice teaching.

REVIEWS—Of common branches.

NOTES.—1 The scope of this work to be limited, not exceeding that of Lockyear's Astronomy.

2 The two consecutively running through the year. Mental science should be taught with reference to the work of teaching, and not with regard to the history of metaphysical theories. Moral philosophy should be taken on its practical rather than its historical or theoretical sides.

3 This advanced course in United States history and government should deal much more with the philosophy of the subject than the Grammar Grade Course. Eliot's History of the United States and Martin's Civil Government are suggested as texts.

MUSIC.

Great attention is paid to instruction in vocal music, which is free to all members of the school. A choral club, open to all, for the practice of higher styles of music, is regularly formed. Three pianos and two organs give opportunity for practice in instrumental music, in which there is a growing interest.

LECTURES.

A bi-monthly course of lectures, by able men, on subjects of general interest, will be given, free to all.

TEACHERS' CLASSES.

It will be one main object of Straight University to give thorough special training, not only in the things taught, but in the best methods of instruction. Regular teachers' classes will be formed and students from the Normal Department will be allowed to obtain practical experience in the primary grades, under the supervision of trained teachers. Students of the institution who are qualified will receive certificates and be aided in obtaining schools.

REGULATIONS AND GENERAL INFORMATION.

Straight University is open to all who sustain a good moral character, and submit cheerfully to all requirements and regulations, without distinction of race, sex or denomination; but none are invited to its privileges, or desired, who are unwilling to work hard and perseveringly for an education.

No student will be received from any other university without a certificate showing good standing.

Every student should be present on the first day of the year and continue till its close, to insure the best results, but students may enter at any time.

No student will be received for less than one month, and no deductions will be made for short absences.

All students boarding at the University will be required to work one hour per day, under the direction of the matron or teachers, at any necessary labor about the building or grounds.

The use of intoxicating liquors and tobacco is forbidden.

Students should come provided with plenty of plain and comfortable clothing, and, as far as practicable, enough should be brought to last at least through one term. This is specially requested of young ladies, as the making of dresses in term time is liable to be a serious interruption to their studies.

It is hoped that mothers will concur with us in desiring their daughters to dress plainly.

It is recommended that girls come provided with colored skirts and plain dresses, as white skirts and dresses will be charged extra.

Each girl should come provided with water-proof, rubber over-shoes and umbrella. All students furnish their own towels and table napkins.

Students will not be allowed to absent themselves from study or recitation hours without satisfactory reason.

All are required to attend church and Sunday school on the Sabbath, and all devotional exercises of the institution.

Students whose parents do not reside in New Orleans will be required to board at the University, unless by special permission of the faculty.

Students will have the care of their own rooms, under the direction of the Matron or Preceptress. Promptness and neatness will be required.

It will be the aim of the Faculty to supply, as far as may be possible, the place of kind and judicious parents to all young people entrusted to their care.

Applications for admission should be made at as early a day as possible, to Prof. R. C. Hitchcock, Dean of the Faculty, 490 Canal street, New Orleans, La.

LAW DEPARTMENT.

This department is in successful operation, with an efficient corps of professors. An attendance of two years or its equivalent is required. Students from other law schools will be received to a corresponding grade. Applicants for admission, who have read law for one year under a competent lawyer, and who pass a satisfactory examination, will be admitted to the second course of lectures. At the conclusion of two years' course of study a faithful examination will take place, and those whose proficiency in the knowledge of law warrants it, will receive the degree of Bachelor of Law, entitling them to practice in the courts of Louisiana.

This University gives an annual course of lectures, commencing first Monday of November and ending in March ensuing, or as soon as practicable thereafter. Students are recommended to enter early in term if possible.

Students are recommended to consult and become familiar with the following works: Story on the Constitution; Vattel's Law of Nations or Wheaton's Elements of International Law; the Louisiana Civil Code and Code of Practice; Revised Statutes of Louisiana and the United States Statutes, and Statutes of a general nature subsequently passed; the Institutes of Justinian; Domat's Civil Law; Pothier's Treatise on Obligations; Blackstone and Kent's Commentaries; Smith on Mercantile Law; Story or Parsons on Notes; Chitty or Bayly on Bills; Greenleaf, Starkie or Phillips on Evidence; Russell on Crimes; Hennen's, Walker's and Longue's Digests, and the decisions of the Supreme Court of Louisiana generally.

Facilities will be afforded to consult such of the above as may be expensive or inconvenient for the student to possess.

Each Lecturer will instruct in the science or theory and practice of the department of law assigned to him, according to the usage of the courts of the United States and the State of Louisiana.

The instructions in each department of law will cover not only the science or theory, but the practice, as known in the courts of the United States and State of Louisiana.

Terms, fifty-six dollars a year, in advance.

At graduation an additional charge of five dollars will be made for diploma and other incidental expenses.

All payments and financial arrangements of any kind whatever are to be made with the Dean of the Law Faculty.

THEOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT.

The work and usefulness of this department has been limited hitherto by the lack of college graduates in the number of students enrolled, and the fact that so few young men of character and ability are willing to devote three years of hard, honest study to the work of preparation for the Gospel Ministry. Up to this time it has been more properly a theological class than an organized and systemized theological department, such as the needs of this State demand. Its students have been largely young men already licensed as local preachers, and doing either full or partial work as evangelists. Such men, feeling their need of instruction in the truth of the Bible and in the great doctrines of our common faith, have eagerly sought the advantages we had to offer. The results have been all we could reasonably expect. Pulpits in Louisiana and Texas are now successfully filled by men who have received here all their theological training. Regular instruction is given in Biblical Exegesis and Systematic Theology; and so far and so soon as the number and scholarship of the students and regularity of their attendance will warrant it, lectures will be regularly given on Ecclesiastical History, Pastoral Theology and Homiletics. The privileges of the department are accessible to all who desire to qualify themselves for the Christian ministry. College graduates and students of advanced standing are especially desired. The benefits of the theological lectures are afforded to all, without cost, whose character and abilities justify their choice of the sacred office of the ministry.

Students who have received a diploma of graduation from a college or university will, at the completion of three years' course of study in this department, receive the Degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Students who have not received a college education will receive upon leaving this department, a certificate stating the length of time spent in theological studies, and the character and scholarship attained.

LIBRARY

During the past year considerable additions have been made to our library, and there has been manifested a growing interest in reading. Our library is quite well supplied with encyclopædias and books of reference for general information, several additions having been made during the year to this department.

READING ROOMS.

A free reading room has been opened at each of the dormitories. These are already quite well supplied with books and periodical literature, and hopes are entertained that the coming year will see a great awakening in the matter of obtaining a knowledge of the current events of the day, as well as an acquaintance with the best authors.

BOARDING.

It will be our aim to make our Boarding Halls pleasant and happy homes for the young people who come to us. The rooms are large, light and airy, and cleanliness is absolutely required. All are under the watchful care of Christian matrons and teachers, who desire their highest good.

HISTORY.

The institution is controlled and supported by the American Missionary Association, New York. In 1869 the plan was formed to establish a University in New Orleans for the education of the colored people in this and adjoining States. The ground was purchased by the American Missionary Association, and the building was erected by the government, and dedicated in February, 1870. The act of incorporation is dated June 25th, 1869, in which it is stated that the University is endowed "with the power to confer all such honors and degrees as are conferred by the Universities of the United States of America." The building erected on Esplanade street in 1870 was destroyed by fire February 16th, 1870.

A more eligible and central location was purchased on Canal street, and the first building erected on the new site, in the summer of 1878, was ready for occupation October 1st. In 1881, by the munificent gift of twenty-five thousand dollars, from Mrs Valeria G. Stone of Malden, Mass., an additional half square of land was purchased, and the teachers' home and girls' dormitory, erected. The building is admired for the good taste and convenience of its appointments, and in architectural design and finish is an ornament to Canal street. It has accommodation for one hundred boarding girls. The girls are under the care of a Christian matron, who watches over them when sick, and gives such supervision and advice as young girls in the absence of their mothers need.

STONE HALL,

In October, 1883, the boys' dormitory, opened its doors to receive the young men who came from outside the city of New Orleans. To the continued and generous friendship of Hon. Seymour Straight, and the thoughtful kindness of the late John C. Whitin we owe this tasteful building. Pleasant rooms are furnished for one hundred boys.

WHITIN HALL,

The past year shows the fairest and most hopeful record in our history. Our buildings have been full to overflowing. The tide of an intelligent demand for education, and of appreciation of the quality of work done at Straight University, has risen higher and higher during the year, until our chief embarrassment has been the limit of our school accommodations. The list of names in this catalogue tells its own story of the great number of students in the different departments of the school, and the large area of territory represented.

The work already attempted we hope to increase in value by improved methods and a larger force of workers, as the means for doing it are placed at our disposal.
